The behavior of gases is explained by what scientists call the Kinetic Molecular Theory. According to this theory, all matter is made of constantly moving atoms or molecules. Because of their mass and velocity, they possess kinetic energy, (K.E. = 1/2mv). The molecules collide with one another and with the sides of the container.

Behaviour and properties. In discussing the behaviour of gases, it is useful to separate the equilibrium properties and the nonequilibrium transport properties. By definition, a system in equilibrium can undergo no net change unless some external action is performed on it (e.g., pushing in a piston or adding heat).
